love & marriage, work & children, family & society

Date : symposium : 13:30- 18:00, Friday 10 February / 2006 : reception : 18:30 - 20:00 venue : 5F Nagoya International Center, 1 No. 47, 1-chome, Nagoya, Nakamura-ku, Nagoya (Kokusai Center Stn., Sakura-Dori Line) capacity : 60 persons (no need for pre-registration, Japanese / English translation included) fee : free (3,000 yen per person for those who wish to attend reception) organized by International New Designers Workshop Organizing Committee (City of Nagoya, International Design Center NAGOYA)

produced by Leimei Julia Chiu (Director, Global Communications, International Design Center NAGOYA)

The symposium is an exploration of how the lifestyles and values of Japanese women affect social trends in this country by using the City of Nagoya as a case study. 50 upcoming designers and students from Canada, France, Portugal, Thailand, China, Hong Kong, Korea, Taiwan and Japan will present their research findings from a week-long field work in Nagoya during which they tried to determine problematics related to gender issues and come up with innovative propositions of how we can use design to improve everyday life.
